

Life is like a 10 speed bike. Most of us have gears we never use.

Charles Schultz

How many of your 10 gears do you use? Have you ever even used your 10th gear?

Very few people push themselves to their limit of greatness. To do this takes extreme determination. It takes having ability to fail over and over again until you reach your achievement. And then looking at what your next achievement will be and start it all over again.

This is hard work. Really hard work.

It's easy to coast along in 3 gear. Maybe you work harder and get to 5th or even 7th gear. But gears 8 through 10 will take a desire and work ethic of great proportion.

You have that greatness in you. You are awesome.

Put your hand on your heart and say:
I choose to use my 10th gear.
